Angelica “Andie” Monet is a Top Business Optimization Expert and international bestselling author, has spoken on stages with leaders like Les Brown, and has advised Fortune 500 companies, foreign and domestic governments, and over 1,000 small businesses for over 3 decades, in 22 industries, and 10 countries. The clients who she has worked with include:

- Monster Energy Corp
- Coca-Cola,
- The United States Department of Defense,
- Costco,
- Walmart,
- Berkshire Hathaway,
- Hollywood actors & producers.

Andie applies the same systems, insights and elbow grease that have rebuilt nations to help small business owners. Her strategic solutions and tools move businesses from “just” growth to explosive growth and profits almost overnight, while also meeting people where they are in their experience and skill-level.

Abandoned by her mother at 16 years old, she started her first business, finished high school, and started college while homeless. With a lot of determination, confidence, and maybe just plain-ol’ stubbornness, she now passionately focuses on streamlining the business success journey with strategies that do not add costs or hours to the day. This also results in a confident, empowered, and strategic business owner.

When she’s not training for triathlons, saving the world, or serving at her church, Andie can be found building her non-profit to support youth leadership and entrepreneurship, hoping her adult daughter will call her, and hanging out with her son Luke, watching sci-fi and adventure movies, where they live in Lake Livingston, Texas.
